Oregon State University
DATA USE RELEASE FORM

OregonFlora, a program within Oregon State University, is pleased to acknowledge your contribution of data and/or images in aid of OregonFlora's mission to increase knowledge about the plant diversity of our state. We request your consent to share data and/or images provided by you and/or the group you represent as outlined below in support of the OregonFlora program and mission.

       By signing my initials here, I consent to OregonFlora using my data and/or images with all the following (5) conditions. If I do not consent to all, my initials next to individual conditions indicate the consent I give. If the information I share with OregonFlora is a photograph or illustration for which I own copyright, I acknowledge that OregonFlora will accompany all images used with copyright information.

The information I provide (check all that apply):

- may be changed in format from the original
- may be published in hard copy and/or electronically
- may be distributed at cost for educational, non-profit use
- images may be cropped and the contrast, hue, and brightness adjusted
- may be used in presentations given in person or online to communicate OregonFlora program activities

I understand that locality information will be restricted for rare species and certain localities, and that OregonFlora's presentation of any potentially sensitive information will be done following consultation with representatives of the relevant federal and state agencies, the Native Plant Society of Oregon, and the Oregon Biodiversity Information Center and to the extent permitted by the Oregon Public Records Law.

To ensure that information provided accurately reflects the assessments of OregonFlora, we may change the taxonomic designations of contributions if additional or superseding information warrants.

As acknowledgment of my contribution, my name will be associated with the data and /or images I provide unless I mark the line below.

       Please do not list my name in association with photographs, illustrations, or data or acknowledge my contribution in digital or printed publications.
